In 1630, John Winthrop led a second group of Puritans to settle the Massachusetts Bay Colony. Winthrop hoped their settlement would be an example of Christian living. In a sermon, he said, "... We shall be as a city upon a hill. The eyes of all people are upon us ..."

Winthrop's group chose to build their "city upon a hill" south of Salem, near the mouth of the Charles River. They named their settlement Boston, after a town in England. Most early settlements in New England were built along the Atlantic coast to make it easier for colonists to get supplies from English trading ships.
